Invite: Student leaders reflect on #FeesMustFall violence

3-5 May 2022 | 10:00-16:00 | Molly Blackburn foyer, UCT Upper Campus

The University of Cape Town's (UCT) Department of Student Affairs in partnership with the Human Sciences Research Council (HSRC) invites you to the exhibition titled, Aftermath: Violence and wellbeing in the context of the student movement, taking place from Tuesday, 3 May until Thursday, 5 May 2022.

The exhibition is a collection of 34 images taken and/or supplied by student leaders, which they reflect on as representations of their experiences of violence during the #FeesMustFall student movement - and their search for wellbeing after these experiences.

The images have been selected and curated from more than 100 images that were produced as part of a photovoice research project hosted by the HSRC in the course of 2019/20. The HSRC research team held photovoice workshops with 26 student leaders and activists on five campuses of universities which experienced high levels of violence during the 2015/16 #FeesMustFall.

The aim of this exhibition is to raise awareness about the levels of violence on university campuses and the impact this has on student wellbeing.

The exhibition will travel to universities across South Africa and neighbouring countries, after already having been shown at the University of Botswana and Stellenbosch University.
